Welcome!

Welcome to this new TV listings archive, launched in the wake of the shutdown of Radio Discussions' website. This site will continue the contributions from the old RD boards, with listings from my own archives and other sources. I also welcome contributions from my readers as well, they can be sent to tim_ripley@yahoo.com .

Western Australia Wed, Nov 29, 1972

from TV Week-Western Australia edition
Contributed by Andrew Bayley (www.televisionau.com)
All programs were B&W, Australia didn't go to full-color TV until 1975 due to its involvement in the Vietnam War and the Prime Minister's feeling that the war took priority over color TV

Newfoundland Tues, Feb 8, 1977

from Newfoundland Herald (the Herald was co-owned with the Newfoundland Broadcasting Co. network, which caused no end of headaches when TV Guide tried to expand into the province in the late 70s-the TV station refused to supply their new competitor with listings info; eventually, the Maritimes edition, which carried most of the stations carried in the province, began coming in via subscription)

NBC (CTV): CJON 6-St. John's, CJWN 10-Corner Brook, CJCN 4-Norris Arm/Grand Falls/Gander and relays (the network changed its name to NTV in the early 80s when the American NBC, via WLBZ Bangor, was imported into the province on cable)

And if memory serves, TF1 was BW on VHF 819 lines in those days (that would be phased out around the early to mid 80s, when TF1 went to full UHF), which may be why FR3 picked up TF1's daytime line-up as FR3 was full-color UHF...

   The only thing I'd add is that ABLV4 would have had regional news at 6.55.

   TV Week never listed it in its Victoria (Melbourne/Gippsland) edition. Probably just assumed the locals knew it was on and that Melbourne readers wouldn't need to see it under the ABV2 listing.

   Significantly, the next day -- the 19th -- was the first day of test colour programming (not just test patterns) ahead of C-Day, 1 March 1975.

I hadn't heard of the Saturday Variety Show before, and interesting too given it's in B&W.

Any further information on that in the magazine?

And NWS9's Hey Hey It's Saturday was a local show, not the same as the GTV9 (Melbourne) version that eventually went national.

All the info I've got on Saturday Variety Show is what was listed:

host Ray Fell
guests that week: Tobi Rix, Neil Reid, Kuban Cossacks, Tommy Leonetti, Lionel Blair, and Design

Seems to be an English show, although Tommy Leonetti was an American who hosted a tonight show in Sydney in the 1960s

The network broadcast teams for the Inauguration looked like this:
ABC: Frank Reynolds/Barbara Walters/Ted Koppel; Koppel also ran highlights on Nightline
CBS: Walter Cronkite solo

NBC: John Chancellor/Roger Mudd til 2, then Tom Brokaw/Jane Pauley; Jessica Savitch hosted the highlights program
PBS: Paul Duke for both coverage and highlights

I never realised the inauguration was such a big TV event.

When Australia swears in a new Prime Minister it barely makes the evening news :)

Interesting to see Prisoner Cell Block H as a half-hour series, given it was produced as one-hour episodes originally. Must have been cut in half for US syndication. Also interesting to see it run on an ABC station. I thought it had only been picked up by independents in the US.

And 7.30 is an early timeslot for it. In Australia the early episodes were definitely 'adults only' 8.30 viewing!

I'm guessing the syndicator edited out the more raunchy parts for the American audience...another interesting item from the listings is that ch 4 and 8 in Indianapolis recently switched networks with ch 4 joining CBS and ch 8 picking up ch 4's previous CW affiliation (ch 4 shares a news department with sister Fox station WXIN 59).

Ah, the joys of program listings published in advance. The Ten Network were so embarrassed by Arcade that they dumped it abruptly at the end of February after only six weeks on air. The final episode aired on Friday 29 February, and the approximately 20 episodes unaired at that point remain never to be seen.

The Sydney Morning Herald covered the show's axing here.

From Monday 3 March, ATV10 replaced it at 6.30pm with re-runs of Hogan's Heroes until such time as they reinstated the one-hour news at 6.00pm (in May).

In Sydney, where Arcade screened at 7.00pm, TEN10 replaced it with re-runs of MASH, a series that would go on to be a regular 7pm staple for Ten for years to come.

the TV Week Logie Awards were held the previous Friday night (7 March) with the winners listed in TV Week on sale the following week, so chances are any RTQ7 or NQTV viewers would have known the winners before their local airdate :)

I think the missing ABC call-signs you might be looking for are ABWQ4 Gympie and ABWQ1 Monto (relays from ABWQ6 Wide Bay/Maryborough) and I'm not sure what "Ward" is but I suspect it might be North Ward which is a suburb of Townsville. But I can't find any reference to an ABTQ10. There was an ABTQ1 translator in Townsville (as well as the main ABTQ3 signal) so I'm not sure if that's what TV Week meant. (sometimes their list of regional translators was a bit vague)

Some of the stations listed were mentioned on Wikipedia, but not in TV Week...according to Wikipedia's list, a lot of the translators in regional areas came online between 1971 and 1974; the station in Mary Katherine went dark in 1982 after the community was abandoned (mining community?). When I Googled Ward, the only one I could find in Queensland was the County of Ward on the Gold Coast which should be in the Brisbane edition area?

Television.AU7 March 2015 at 18:02

yeah the Gold Coast then either received ABQ2 from Brisbane or ABRN6 from Lismore (NSW). Not aware of any Channel 10 translator on the Gold Coast which may have interfered with DDQ10 Darling Downs

The Gold Coast eventually got its own translator ABQ49 in the 1980s.

Looking at a copy of the ACMA tx list, there is a listing for Townsville North, so you're probably right about North Ward being in the Townsville area...

For the record, the Sunday 0-28 test transmissions looked like this...
6.45am Huskies Never Freeze (Sweden)
7.15 Movie "Dictator Calls Thanasis" (Greece)

There were no late-night test transmissions that day...

What on earth is a "Potato Pickers' Special"?

And I hope Jane Fonda kept her potty mouth at home unlike her more recent appearance on NBC Today a few years back :)

Potato Pickers Special was intended for those people working the potato harvest...WAGM's broadcast area was prime potato-growing territory, with one of the largest manufacturers of French fries, McCain's, located in Florenceville on the New Brunswick side of the border, well within range of the station's transmitter, which was could be received as far away as suburban Fredericton, New Brunswick's capital (where ch 8 was carried on local cable).

Quebec Sat, Oct 8, 1960

from TV Hebdo (in its early days (this was from issue #8), there was one edition covering the entire province...also, stations in smaller markets ran a bilingual program schedule, the percentage of anglo programming depended on the size of that population in the market)
Early evening programs on SRC stations may be affected by the length of the football game...on CBFT, Telejournal would air at 7:15, with Ce soir, Nouvelles sportives, and Vacances d'une camera cancelled

Moral ratings for movies on francophone channels (the Roman Catholic Church had a very heavy influence on Quebecois life in those days):
(T) Tous/All Audiences
(AA) Adultes et Adolescents/Adults and Teens
(A) Adultes/Adults with certain life experiences
(AR) Adultes avec reserves/Adults Only, with Warnings

(D) A deconseiller/Not Recommended
(P) A proscrire/Banned (extremely offensive)

   That would be 2001, not 1991.

Temptation and The Great Temptation were both on their way out. Temptation (which dated back to 1970) was always a daytime show but The Great Temptation (launched in mid 1971) was an early evening version of basically the same show. And it was a ratings hit.

But then Channel 7 decided to move it to 8.30pm in 1974 to try to drag viewers away from the top-rating soapie Number 96. It didn't work and so The Great Temptation was soon bumped to afternoons before both Temptation and Great Temptation were bumped off altogether.

The format came back a few years later on another network under the original overseas title Sale Of The Century.

Surprised to see Vietnam Report on Australia's troops, in the listings.

According to Wikipedia, Scarlett Hill also aired in Australia. I might need to see which channel(s) might have picked it up.

Interesting that it is ABC Victoria that has a scheduled update for the South Australian state election, but ABC South Australia, and the South Australian regionals (SES8, RTS5A) had no scheduled coverage. Weird

The reason Channel 39 was listed first is because it was a local station, with Allentown being the heart of the Lehigh Valley. The thinking was that it was more relevant to the viewing area it was targeting. Growing up in that area, we HAD to rely on cable, due to the mountainous terrain, so we got channels from Philly, Scranton and New York, with a lot of overlap on the network stations.

Which leads to the question as to why they didn't do that with the other local station, channel 69?
